

JUNE WEEK BEGINS FOR WEST POINTERS

Largest Class in Academy's History, 164 Cadets, to Be Graduated.

MANY ATHLETES ON ROLL

West Point, June 5.—"June week" will be officially ushered in at the military academy to-morrow, when the Rev. H. Percy Silver, chaplain, will deliver the graduation sermon in the big church on Chapel Hill to the cadets of the graduating class of 1915.

Visitors to the academy are already here in large numbers for the festivities and military drills that will occupy all of next week and terminate in the graduation of the first class on Saturday.

One hundred and sixty-four cadets will on that morning receive from the hands of the Secretary of War, Lindley D. Garrison, their diplomas certifying to their completion of the four years course and entitling them to commissions as Second Lieutenants in the United States Army.

The class of 1915 is the largest that has ever turned out from West Point. It numbered 245 members when it was admitted in the summer of 1911, eighty-four delinquents having left. This is a large percentage of "fallouts" for a class at West Point—nearly 24 per cent.

Many Athletes in Class.

This year's class is notable for several things. All the cadets who will graduate this year are Americans, that is, there are no foreign cadets who will get diplomas with the cadets of 1915.

In athletics the class has especially distinguished itself. Some of the best athletes the academy ever had are leaving it this year. For instance, in football alone there is the much dreaded "forward pass" which is the king of the other the prince of forward passers. Hobbs, star kicker in football and star on the basketball team, will be missed; so will Bennett, Bradley, Herwick, Hodgson, Woodruff, Boots, Larkin, Eisenhower and Hooker when the football season rolls around again in the fall. Boye, MacTaggart, Walden and Howell, not to mention Hobbs again, will leave a big hole when it comes time for the army basketball team to get together next winter.

In hockey the cadets lose Strong, captain of the team, Coughlin and Brady, the champion goal keepers of the academy, will also graduate.

Only three States in the Union are not represented by at least one cadet in this year's class. They are Rhode Island, Montana and North Dakota. Pennsylvania leads with sixteen. New York is second with fifteen. The New Yorkers who will get their diplomas are: J. P. Conklin (31st), A. P. Cronkite (15th), A. W. Widdell (12th), J. H. Marsh (24th), J. K. Monahan (22nd), E. B. Hyde, Jr. (18th), J. A. McDermott (7th), H. G. Peris (21st), S. C. Macmillan (34th), E. C. Gidycz (11th), W. S. T. Holcomb (25th), S. M. Nabab (18th), H. R. Harmon (6th), G. S. Brownell (23th) and H. W. Boye (14th).

Two Cadets From Islands.

Anastasio Ver, a Filipino, the second one to graduate from West Point to the Philippine Islands, is a member of the class. He is the son of another cadet from the insular possessions. He is the first cadet from Porto Rico that ever graduated from the academy.

Cadet Roger B. Loech of Kentucky is the oldest man in the class—26 years and 5 months. Cadet C. R. Eisenhardt of Oklahoma is the youngest man. He came in on June 14, 1911, and had to wait at the academy until July 20 of that year at his own expense in order to be legally admitted on that date, when he would be 17 years old.

There is a pretty race for first honors between Edwin Richardson Kimble, who was appointed from the Seventh Congressional district of Texas, and William E. R. Covell, who was appointed from the District of Columbia. In the order of merit and proportional parts of last year's class record Kimble had 77.04 out of a maximum of 800. Covell had for the same period 770.93. The final examination and class work must determine the relative merits of these two men. There is also some uncertainty as to who will graduate "first" or last man in the class. Three cadets are said to have each a chance for it.

LITTLE NEW YORKERS OF TO-DAY REVIVE DAYS OF OLD: 200 SEEN IN HISTORICAL PAGEANT AT RIVERDALE PARK

IRISH LADS AND LASSIES AT THE CHILDREN'S PAGEANT AT RIVERDALE FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE AMERICAN RED CROSS.

The towns along the Hudson River contributed more than their share of children for the children's pageant given yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Carse for the benefit of the Van Cortlandt Chapter of the American Red Cross. A corps of Boy Scouts escorted visitors from Van Cortlandt Terminal to Riverdale Park.

The Hudson River offered the best of backgrounds for the history of New York given in pageant form. Indians shouted wildly along the banks, and dainty, corseted maidens of 3 and 4 danced minuets with dimpled cavaliers.

The tiny actors swarmed over the spreading lawn of Mrs. Carse's home, flanked by tall trees, like so many gayly colored butterflies, and all around the flower beds and struck terror to the hearts of nurse maids, but for the wide-eyed and silent while, accompanied by Miss Gaudier and the Music School Settlement Band, the older children danced and sang.

When every nation had been represented, and almost every period in American history, forty-four little girls, representing States of the Union, marched to the steps of the Carse home, where Uncle Sam and Columbia were waiting to receive them.

"Mummy," exclaimed one three-year-old gravely, "why does Charlie wear skirts?" Charlie, in the garb of a Greek flower girl with white muslin flounces, was so incensed that he thought the tray of sweets and cookies right on a lady's head and amid general pandemonium, the three-year-old was quickly attracted.

"The children have been having little entertainments all winter for the benefit of the Red Cross," said Mrs. David Carse, chairman of the executive committee, "and this is the culmination of all our efforts by which we hope to continue interest in the Red Cross work throughout the summer. The proceeds of this entertainment will go toward our work in this country, but the Van Cortlandt Chapter is supporting a nurse in France. The relief for Serbia and Poland are particularly urgent."

Directors on the pageant committee were Mrs. David Carse, Mrs. John Carse, Miss Grace Carstensen, Mrs. Frederick Cole, Mrs. Daniel Parrow, Mrs. Eugene Deland, Mrs. Loring Gale, Mrs. William Harris, Mrs. Henry Janeway, Mrs. Emily Perkins, Mrs. George Ingram, Mrs. Ashley Thorndike and Miss Anne Webb.

Nearly two hundred children took part in the entertainment.

STEVENS'S BIG DAY ATTRACTS A THROG

More Than 10,000 See Pyramid Erected Celebrating Wiping Out of Debt.

More than 10,000 attended the alumni day festivities at Stevens Institute, Hoboken, yesterday. The day began with the conference of the Associated Stevens Alumni Clubs in the morning and concluded with a band concert and dance at the Castle in the evening.

The big feature of the day was the celebration of the raising of $1,385,000 to wipe out the college debt. This was observed by the building of a forty foot tower of wooden blocks on the campus.

The blocks, twenty in number and about eight feet square, were hoisted into pyramid formation. Each block was labeled with figures representing some particular year's subscription secured during the campaign.

After the last block was swung into place Walter Kiddie of the class of '97 was hoisted to the top, where he unfurled a Stevens flag amid much enthusiasm.

Proceeding the building of the block pyramid was the annual pageant. President Alexander C. Humphreys, escorted by the "Gold Guard" comprising the classes down to 1883, headed the procession. The other classes followed in their order of seniority.

The class of 1910 won first prize. The float represented an operating room replete with surgeons, nurses and attendants. On the table was "Uncle Sam".

The second prize was captured by 1914. The ship "Delt" was first. Following it was a class dressed as a submarine. When in front of the grand stand the submarine fired a torpedo, sinking the "Delt".

Billy Sunday was given a prominent place. He rode on the float of the 1912 class. With him was "Ma" Sunday. Following behind were the other members of the class dressed in representative garb. When they passed the grand stand Billy sprinkled some sawdust and the angels stepped up and shook his hand.

Later in the afternoon there was a baseball game between Stevens varsity and Rutgers. There were also tennis matches between teams of the two colleges.

From 4 to 5:30 P. M. there was a concert and lawn party. At 6 o'clock the alumni and their guests had dinner at the Castle.

$36,100 FROM LAMBS GAMBOL.

Brought Out Two Pieces That Will Be Seen on Broadway.

After giving two performances yesterday the Lambs brought their annual gambol to a close at the Century Theatre last night.

It was estimated that $36,100 had been realized from the sale of seats, program advertising and other sources. After deducting expenses about $27,000 will remain for the benefit of the Actors Fund.

Yesterday's performance, matinee and evening, were in no respect different from the first production on Friday. Throughout the whole engagement the Lambs have adhered to capacity houses.

The first performance of the gambol on Friday night netted the largest amount for the Actors Fund. There was an advance sale of seats for the production of seats for $14,000 and the box office sale netted several thousand dollars.

Last night more than 1,000 persons were turned away. The Lambs have under consideration an extra performance this week, but had not come to a definite decision yesterday.

It was one of the most successful gambols given in the history of the Lambs. At least two of the offerings, John L. Golden's "The Clock Shop" and George V. Hobart's allegorical play "Why," were shortly to be seen on Broadway.

The rights to "The Clock Shop" already have been bought by Morris Cost, who intends lengthening it out into a complete musical piece. Negotiations are pending for the sale of "Why," by the author of "Experience," which had its beginning at the Lambs gambol last year.

DIVINES BACK STRIKE OF SCHOOL GRADUATES

Nine of Ten Students Say They Won't Take Diplomas in Church.

The Board of Education of Amityville, L. I., is "up a tree," in the words of one of its members, regarding the selection of a place in which to hold the commencement exercises of the high school. Disregarding the wishes of nine of the ten in the graduating class of 1915, the board decided to hold the exercises in the Methodist Church. This caused protest from the nine students, of whom Miss Rose Shea, a Catholic, was the most outspoken. She said that she would not attend graduation exercises in a church. In this she was guided by the Rev. Father Joseph F. Conway, rector of St. Martin's Church. Father Conway said the public schools were supported by taxpayers without respect to religious beliefs and that school exercises should be held in places where persons of all beliefs could attend.

The Rev. John Whiting Crowell, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, strongly indorsed the view taken by the church selected.

3,000 Children March in Bayonne Sunday School Parade.

More than 3,000 children, each of whom carried an American flag, took part in the annual Sunday school parade in Bayonne yesterday afternoon. At City Park they were reviewed by the City Commissioners, clergymen and superintendents and conducted patriotic exercises. Francis J. Lundy was grand marshal and his aids were Robert J. Hampton and Harry E. Bookoven.

HOLE TORN IN FIRST CARGO SHIP GERMANS TORPEDOED

BOW of the Norwegian ship Belridge, now at Newport News, showing the destructive effect of the German torpedo was fired by a German submarine off South Foreland, on the British coast. The photograph was taken when the ship was put in an English drydock for repairs.

The effect of a torpedo on a ship carrying no explosives is shown in the photograph of the Norwegian steamship Belridge, which was the first victim of a German torpedo. Germany's long distance blockade against English ships or ships carrying aid to the English became effective at midnight on Thursday, February 18. At 1:10 A. M. just one hour and ten minutes later, the Belridge, bound from Newport News for Amsterdam, was struck by a torpedo without warning. The many oil compartments of the steamer kept her afloat and she was taken to South Shields, England, for repairs. It was there that the photograph was taken.

The Belridge was laden with a cargo of fuel oil and Germany has practically agreed to pay for the damage to the ship and the cost of repairs and the pay of the master and crew while the steamer was in the dry dock. It took six weeks to repair the steamer. The German Government has officially stated that the Belridge was torpedoed by mistake.

GRADUATING FETES AT NEW YORK UNIVERSITY

Alumni Reunion Begins Annual Commencement Festivities.

The eighty-third commencement week activities at New York University began yesterday afternoon with the annual reunion of the alumni of the college of arts and the school of applied science.

Prior to the luncheon and the annual business meeting of the alumni association the gymnasium was crowded with graduates. More than 600 attended.

The class of 1843 was the oldest one represented. Lewis B. Reed, the only surviving member, reported for his class. He has missed only six meetings since he was graduated, seventy-two years ago. Paul H. Vane, '53, and H. S. Drayton, '59, were the only representatives of the 50s.

The 1863 class made an exceptionally good showing. Of the twenty-one members eleven are living and eight of them were present. The 1890 class had 50 per cent of its members present.

During the meeting Arthur M. King of the class of 1890 announced that his class had donated a $1,000 scholarship to the institution. In 1905 a similar gift was made.

The 1904 class presented the university with a beautiful bronze bulletin board. This was given as a reparation for the damage done during a class rush in 1902.

Chancellor Brown in his address said that the percentage of out of town students had increased from 35 per cent twenty years ago to 35 per cent. He predicted 3,000 students within a few years.

After the meeting in the gymnasium the parade around the campus was begun. Many of the classes were in costume and two gave special entertainments.

The prize for the best costumed class went to 1905. The members of this class gave a little skit entitled "Nut Sundae," with Redell Werrenath, the concert singer, in the main role.

The varsity baseball team met the Swarthmore team on Ohio Field immediately after these pranks were completed. The visitors won, 11 to 1.

The following officers for the coming year were elected: James Boyd, '82, president; W. G. Hise, '83, vice-president; James G. Dale, '09, secretary; T. T. Reilly, '05, treasurer; H. M. Brown, '86, registrar.

The Phi Beta Kappa society elected these officers: Prof. S. E. Herrick, president; Prof. C. E. Tonsor, secretary; Prof. W. E. Waters, treasurer; J. V. Irwin, corresponding secretary; Prof. J. W. Edmondson was elected to honorary membership.

Students, especially the seniors, will be held on the Maroon campus on Saturday afternoon.

Sunday will be the busiest day in the week's programme, and the alumni will manage the festivities. Beginning with a banquet in the dining room of Senior Hall, the alumni will formally receive the graduating class. The new Alumni Hall will then be formally taken by the alumni and the president of Fordham will welcome them. The class of 1890 will lead the procession from the old hall to the new Alumni quarters and will be followed by the class graduated twenty years ago and so on, the alumni of each succeeding five years marching in separate lines, followed by the graduating class.

Moody's exercises will conclude the commencement programme. In the morning the annual baseball game between the senior class and the faculty will be played.

Class day exercises will begin early in the afternoon, during which the class of 1915 will play the day, and assist in the regular class day programme. The faculty will then entertain the graduates until it is time to march in the procession from Senior Hall to the college exercises in the auditorium at 8 o'clock.

U. S. OPPOSES COURT ACTION IN RIGGS CASE

Says District Tribunal Lacked Authority in Enjoining Interest on Bonds.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The Department of Justice filed a brief in the District Supreme Court to-day to support the contention that the court is without authority to enjoin the withholding of the $5,000 interest on bonds from the Riggs National Bank by the Comptroller of the Currency. The brief says it is not within the jurisdiction of an equity court to "enjoin the performance of an act which has already been performed."

It is contended that the interest money is in reality and in law the property of the United States and that the defendant Treasury officials are not liable to an equity court for an action, which if remediable, must be remedied in a court of law.

The 1863 class made an exceptionally good showing. Of the twenty-one members eleven are living and eight of them were present. The 1890 class had 50 per cent of its members present.
